NUMBER: 73.

KERR BROTHERS

Grain, Seeds, Wool,

Salt, Etc.

HIGHEST MARKET PRICE PAID FOR

GRAIN, SEEDS

-AND-WOOL.

ALL THE BEST GRADES OF

"Ouaker Salt,"-The Best TELEPHONE 48.

MILLERS.

In Bellefontaine in 1869. are still making it. It is the Kind of Flour

THAT MAKES GOOD BREAD

The Kind of Bread You Like. All Grocers Sell It. Bakers Use It, Bread Makers Like It.

It is the Standard of Excellence.

We always want to Buy Wheat. We always Want to Sell Mill Feed.

FOULK CARRIAGESH OP HARD

Don't Let Your Buggy Go For it will wear longer if you get repaired. I have a number of Second-Hand Jobs to Sell Cheap.

Call and see what we are doing. Get

West of Colton Mills.

AM NOW AT THE OAK

Curtis Old Stand.

Tom J. Hellings.

Frank R. Griffio.

DENTIST.

Special Attention Given to Operations on the Natura Teeth and the Care of Office Room 20 Lawrence Bldg BELLEFONTAINE.

At Reasonable Rates.

and satisfaction guaranteed. Evsales a success, and prompt atten-tion will be given to all correspond-ence and to all business entrusted

E. B. Norviel,

GRAPHIC DETAILS

OF THE ATTEMPTED

resident's left stood Mr. Cortelvou.

presidential party, a medium sized man of ordinary appearance and plainly

PPINGACTED AS IF TO GEET THE PRESIDENT.

crack of a revolver rang lond and clear plete silence. The president stood stock still, a look of hesitancy, almost of be-

BEGAN TO STEAL OVER HIS

FEATURES

that something serious had happened, paused in surprise while necks were threw themselves forward, as with one viously grasped the hand of the presi-

THE PRESIDENT'S ASSAILANT.

in two feet of the president.

above the hum of voices

ressed in black.

MAUD MUELLER.

On a Summer's day, Raked the meadow sweet with hay. The Judge rode slowly down the lane, Smoothing his horse's chesnut mane, Maud Muller looked and sighed "Ah,

That I the Judge's bride might be. could then discard this rake so rusty, And buy one from us bright, strong an

My garden tools would all be new, As also my kitchen utensils, too. I'd have a lase mower, and hose

And a new refrigerator to keep the ice And screens for the windows, to bar out can get at Osborn & Churchill's wilderment on his face. Then he

Dealer in

Wool, Salt, CEMENTS

CALCINED PLASTER

e make a specialty oftexamining and fitting

Children's Eyes

GLASSES.

Two Years and Six Months Old.

since then which have given perfect satisction.

MRS. RUTH E. OSBORNE.

DR. SPITTLE is located permanently

rith C. A. Miller, Bellefontaine, O. All ex-

Cor. Main and Chillicothe

aminations and consultations free. Satisfac

FARMERS

Corn.

Apples, Potatoes,

I will pay the highest (AtH price for

Wild Came

DURING SEASON.

GUS. BERNDT, Ohillicothe Ave

SUMMERFIELD, O., Aug. 19, 1899.

ground, his weapon was wrested from his hand and strong arms pinioned him down. Then the multitude which and all the best grades of thronged the edifice began to come to a realizing sense of the awfulness of the scene of which they had been unwilling > welled to a hum of confusion, then rew to a Babel of sounds and later to pandemonium of noises.

The crowds that a moment before had stood mute and motionless, as in bewildered ignorance of the enormity of the Warehouse and Office. thing, now with a single impulse surged forward, while a

HOARSE CRY WELLED UP FROM THOUSANDS OF THROATS

Children's and a thousand men charged forward

aundreds of others from the outside applied, struggled blindly forward in the effort RE-ECHOED THE CRY, "LYNCH HIM!" to penetrate the crowded building and solve the mystery.

President McKinley, after the first shock of the assassin's shot retreated a I wish to state that when my little boy was two years and six months old, we found that his little eyes were in a bad condition. We had his eyes examined and fitted with glasses by Dr. W. R. Spittle and to our delight found that they were just what he needed and now his eyes are entirely well and much stronger. Dr. Spittle also fitted my own eyes with glass-es since then which have given perfect satisstep, then, as the detectives leaped up-

CHAIR AND SEATED HIMSELF,

bowing his head in his hands. In an instant, Secretary Courtelou and President Milburn were at his side. His waistcoat was hurridly opened, the president meanwhile admonishand telling them to not be alarmed. "But you are wounded," cried hi ecretary, "let me examine,"

"No, I think not," answered the I AM NOT BADLY HURT, I ASSURE

VOIT 11 Nevertheless, his outer garments trickling strerm of crimson was seen to wind its way down his breast, spreading its stain over the white surface of the linen, their worst fears were confirmed. tators crowded down the stairways the Chicago & North-Western R'y, ment." from the galleries and the crowd on Copy will be mailed to any address The pamphlet containing the above rostrum, while, despite the strenuous B. KNISKERN, 22 Fifth avenue, Chi teachers appointed, but attention was the life of one of America's great men, and as they heard him the waverefforts of police and guards, the THRONG WITHOUT STRUGGLED MADLY. to obtain admission.

THE PRESIDENT'S ASSAILANT in the meantime had been hustled to the rear of the building by the exposi-ASSASSINATION. tion guards, where he was held while the building was cleared, and later he was turned over to Superintendent Bull of the Buffalo police department, The President was in a cheerful mood who took the prisoner to No. 13 police and was enjoying to the full the hearty station and afterward to police headvidences of good will which everyquarters. As soon as the crowd in the where met his gaze. Upon his right Temple of Music had been dispersed In tood John G. Milburn, of Buffalo, sufficiently the president was removed resident of the Pan-American exposiin the automobile ambulance and taken ion, chatting with the president, and to the exposition bospital, where an exatroducing to him especially persons amination was made. The best mediof note who approached. Upon the cal skill was summoned, and within a brief period a number of Buffalo's best It was shortly after 4 p. m. when one known practitioners were at the pa of the throng which surrounded the tient's side. THE PRESIDENT RETAINED THE FULL EXERCISE OF HIS FACUL-THES UNTIL PLACED ON THE

OPERATING TABLE. and subjected to an anesthetic. Upon Both Secretary Cortelyou and Presithe first examination it was ascertaindent Milburn noticed that the man's ed that one bullet had taken effect in hand was swathed in a bandage or the right breast just below the nipple, handkerchief. Reports of bystanders causing a comparatively harmless differ as to which hand. He worked his way amid the stream of people up to the edge of the dais until he was with-

The other took effect in the abdome about four inches below the left nipple four inches to the left of the navel and President McKinley smiled, bowed about on a level with it. and extended his hand in that spirit of

Upon arrival at the exposition ho geniality that the American people so pital the second bullet was probed for well know, when suddenly the sharp THE WALLS OF THE ABDOMEN WERE OPENED BUT THE BALL WAS

NOT LOCATED. The incision was hastily closed, and after a hasty consultation it was decided to remove the patient to the home of President Milburn. This was done, the automobile ambulance being used for the purpose

Arrived at the Milburn residence, al The multitude, only partially aware persons outside the medical attendants, purses and officials immediately concerned, were excluded, and the task of raned and all eyes turned as one to probing for the bullet which had lodged in the abdomen was begun by Dr. Rosthe rostrum. Then came a commotion. With the leap of a tiger three men well Parke. When the news of the crime was telephoned to the home of nal and the Pacific cable and encourage impulse, and sprang toward the would-President Milburn, where Mrs. McKinbe assassin. Two of them were United ley was resting, immediate steps were States secret service men who were on taken to spare her the shock of a prethe lookout, and whose duty it was to mature statement of the occurrence be guard against just such a calamity as fore the true condition of the president had here befallen the president and the should be ascertained. Guards were nation. The third was a bystander, a stationed and no one was permitted to negro, who had only an instant pre- approach the house. When it was DECIDED TO REMOVE THE PATIENT

FROM THE HOSPITAL to the Milburn residence the news was broken to Mrs. McKinley as gently as TEACHERS WERE THE TRIO HURLED THEMSELVES UPON possible. She bore the shock remarkably well and displayed the utmost for

Like wildfire it spread from mouth to By a Circular Relative to Cost of mouth. Then bulletins began to appear on the boards along newspaper row, and when the announcement was made the prisoner had been taken to police headquarters, only two blocks distant from the newspaper section, the CROWDS SERGED DOWN TOWARD THE TERRACE.

eager for a glimpse of the prisoner. At police headquarters they were met by a strong cordon of police, which was drawn up across the pavement on Pearl street and admittance was denied to any but officials authorized to take part in the examination of the prisoner. In from tens to hundreds, and these in turn quickly swelled to thousands, unrible. The crowd surged forward regardless of the consequences. Some of cry of "Lynch him!" Like a flash the at the government warehouses in the those nearest the door fled from the cry was taken up, and the whole crowd. edifice in fear of a stampede, while as if ignited by a single match, thus civilian employes by an order of the was enacted within those few moments each moment the swaying multitude. a tragedy so dramatic in character, so The situation was becoming critical succinct account of what really did vancing with solid front drove the crowd police headquarters making a new examination of the peting those about him to remain calm rified forests of Arizona, The silicified logs lie in great abundance within an area of eight square miles in Apache county. Some places they lie more thickly than they could have stood messes, the provisions being purchased while living as trees, and it is thought from the commissary. The food obtain that they must have been carried there ed from the commissary stores is the by a swift current of water in the mes-

were hastily loostened and when a IRON AND COPPER AND WHERE THEY ARE FOUND,

THE PRESIDENT'S DAY AT THE PAN-AMERICAN

Place Packed to Point of Suffocation.

Speech Declared Isthmian Canal and Pacific Cable Must Be Built.

flade the Rounds of Principal Parts of Fair Amid Huzzas of Multitude.

Buffalo, N. Y. Sept. 5 .- President's day at the Pan-American exposition ran its course under very auspiciou conditions and was attended with every ircumstance in keeping with its high import. President McKinly, with Mrs. McKinley at his side and surrounded y eminent persons of high official rank n the service of this and foreign countries, faced a vast throng of people in the esplanade at noon today and de vered an address that brought forth the thunderous applause of the multi tude. Never before has such a crowd gathered wi. hin the exposition grounds. The people were packed in the esand to the vacant spaces in front of the government buildings to the left. The

LISTENED TO ATTENTIVELY by the audience. His references to the name of Blaine as the man inseparably ssociated with the Pan-American procity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times that the American people must build the isthmian caour merchant marine service and that isolation is no longer possible or desir resident's words were ble were particularly well received. The President's progress through the exposition grounds to the stadium and hence to the various buildings and exhibition of Canada and the South Amerlean republics was one continuous ova-

Living at Manila.

Commissary Privileges to Civilian Employes Taken Away Last June.

Washington, Sept. 5.-The cabled eport from Manila to the effect that the newly arrived American teachers, at a mass meeting yesterday, decided to cable to the president, complaining that promised comnissary privileges were denied them, and that they found their expenses double what they were assured they might til the street was completely blocked expect, attracted considerable attenwith a mass of humanity. It was at tion at the wardepartment. The priv-Philippines was taken away from all secretary of war, issued in June, and as that order was widely published, it was presumed that the teachers who sailed Closer the crowd surged. Denser the subsequently to its issuance were aware Inside, on the slightly raised dias, throng became as new arrivals swelled of its existence. The letters and circulars issued by the war department to applications for these positions in the thrilling in its intensity, that few who when suddenly the big doors were Philippines contain no direct statement looked on will ever be able to give a flung open and a squad of reserves ad- upon the subject of commissary privileges, but the promise that they would back from the curb, then across the have these privileges might have been street and gradually succeeded in dis- assumed from some statements conpersing them from about the entrance tained in a "manual of information relto the station. By this time there ative to the Philippine civil service,' were nearly 50,000 people assembled in which was published in Manila early in the vicinity of Pearl, Seneca, Erie the present year, and to which atten streets and the terrace. The crowd tion was invited by Colonel Edwards. was so great that it became necessary chief of the division of insular affairs. to rope off the entire street in front of in his circular to applicants. This pam phlet, in setting forth the conditions in the islands, for the information of Americans seeking positions in the civil service there, contains the following regarding the purchase of commis

"Many of the Americans secure room with private families and board in best and the average cost for room and board for those who live in this man ner is about $35 a month.

"It is also proposed to establish stores similar to the army commissar stores for the benfit of civilian em ployes. The stores will be well stocked Fully and interestingly described in with provisions, groceries and other the illustrated booklet containing large necessaries of life, and civilian em-A force of exposition guards were on indexed map, plainly indicating the ployes, probably, will be able to pur scene by this time, and an effort region in which this valuable ore is chase from these stores at about 10 per was made to clear the building. Spec- found, now ready for distribution by cent above the cost to the govern-not called to the fact that the privilege poets."-New Orleans Times-Democrat. Ing line rallied and sent up deafening of buying supplies at the government ommissary had been discontinued. The government was compelled to cut off his privilege, both to stop the frauds which were discovered to be due to its operation and also to satisfy the regular merchants in the islands, who were complaining bitterly that the furnishing of supplies by the United States was closing one of their main channels of revenue.

The Talk of the Day.

Here is a snake story from The La-con (III.) Journal: "Every well regulated printing office has a watering can in which water is kept to wet the type. For want of a better place, the one in The Home Journal office is usually kept on a window sill on the north side of the room. One day during the reeent drouth two of our printers were sitting on their stools at this window sticking type, when they were nearly petrifled by the sight of a snake pro truding its head above the sill from the outside. The boys almost broke their necks in getting away. Reaching over into the pan, the snake took a good drink, and, before the startled printers could secure a club with which to dispatch the reptile, it had disappeared. The next day at the same hour the snake came for another drink, and this was repeated the third and fourth days, but the last time it was attacked from the rear by a big Thomas cat that makes his home at Lester's livery barn next door. It was a lively fight for : clanade to the point of suffocation and few seconds, but the cat was too much overflowed down the court of fountains for the snake, although it was fully four feet long, and the reptile made : shoot for the rear of the office. The cat wall and disappeared under the building. That was two weeks ago. Before that time the printing office was overrun with mice, but since then there hasn't been a mouse about the place Any of our readers who are trouble with mice are cordially invited to com and borrow our snake for a few days."

ONE PHASE OF MANIA.

The Fear of Space Is as Real as An Other Kind of Fenr. "But speaking of manlas," said ar observant citizen, "several years ago l had occasion to study the most singu lar case of dread that I ever saw it my life, and it was the case, too, of a man whose personal history and whose great genius would be far more inter esting than this single peculiarity. But I shall refrain from any minute refer ence to the man or to the part he play from one end of the country to the other for the brilliance of his verse Wherever there is a gathering of Bo hemians he is quoted quite as often as Omar, and in fact some of his lines are more popular in this country than any of the catchy bits of Bohemianism that are found in the Rubaivat. "He used to come to my office very often, and there was a mutual friend who had an office just under mine. My friend's office was in the basement, at there was a rather dark stairway tha led down to it. As often as he would show him the way to the office of my friend, and I would do so. I would go nearly to the top of the steps with him He would pause, gale down the long stairway as if half alarmed and ther walk out the ballway to the street The first time I paid no attention to the changed his mind or that he just wantfriend, the poet, called again. When he had concluded his talk with me, he to go down the stairway.

turned to me and asked that I show him the way to the office of our friend I was glad to do it in order to observe more closely his conduct. He went through the usual performance, failing "I went to a physician," the narrate and told him how strangely the poo had acted. The last time I had gone to the stairway with him he seemed to linger longer than usual, and his face wore a frantic cast as he looked down the long, dark stairway. The physician immediately classified the mental derangement and told me that he had never seen a case of it and would like to meet the poet in order to conduct an experiment. He said it was a fea space and gave me the technical name for it, but this is unimportant. The physician told me that it was a rare mental disease and manifested itself in different ways. But a general symptom was found in a fear of dark Steady! Re-enforcements will soon be "'The fact is,' the physician said, that men afflicted in this way are afraid that they will be swallowed up some great and bottomless chasm, that if he had ventured down the dark stairway which led to the office of his friend he would have stepped off of the earth, and, as he was not ready to quit the world, he did not go.'

"After this the physician met the, teresting experiments he had made THE DEPARTURE.

It when a train moves by we feel regret

About us like pet birds, their each sweet tone The other, waiting, cannot help but grieve For the lost friend, to whom in sorrow's clime Each memory in its loneliness must cleave, While the sad soul tries through its requi

A few tear glistening strains of hope to weave

-William Struthers.

How Joe Lost His Arm.

BY PAUL GRANT.

The clerk of the Pretty Jane had a mellow voice, and blended sweetly with it was little Jennie's childish steamboat, gazing around on the bright waters of the Tombigbee as the sun danced on them, gazing intently and smiling absently to himself. He was a man of about 30, and his right coat sleeve was empty and pinned upon his beart. Little Jennie leaned upon his knee staring him intently in the face in a way that children have. She pushed eyes so that she might stare the betwas after it like a streak of lightning, ter. The hat was a queerly shaped palbut the snake found a hole in the brick | metto structure, for this was in 1863, and clothes were at a premium. She was the child of one of the passengers, and between her and the clerk quite a friendship bad sprung up.

"And did you sure enough meet you Julia here on the Tombigbee?" asked the child, stroking the empty sleeve with a pitying touch.

"Yes," said the clerk, roused from his reverie and smiling down on the eager little face: "I have often taken her rowing on the Tombigbee before the war, when I had my other arm."

"How nice!" said Jennie. "How nice! And in a gumtree cance?" "Well, I wasn't particular as to the kind of cance, so it was a cance," said he, smiling.

"And your Julia ain't named Julia, but Mary Jane, after all," said the "Yes." said he, "but she's just as sweet as if her name was Julia, though

'twouldn't fit in the song so well." "No, you couldn't say, 'I rowed my Mary Jane so true.' 'Twould make the song too long legged." "True," said he, laughing, "but that makes no difference. I think of her while I sing it, so that it seems as if it was her name." "Well, Mr. Perkins," said Jennie,

'tell me why haven't you married your Julia, if you've been rowing her around in your gumtree canoe these ever so many years?" "You see." said the mate smiling. 'my Julia couldn't make up her mind that she loved me till the war broke out and I volunteered; then she said directly she'd marry me, but 'twas too late then; I had to go off to fight." "You had both of your arms then!" interrupted Jennie; "you was born with 'em?" "Of course, child. Did you ever bear of any one born with one arm? Nature don't ever make no such cobbled, lopsided work as that." "Well, if you had both of your arms then, I don't see why she wouldn't have you."

"Bless you, child, everybody had plenty of arms then; that was no inducement to take a fellow. But, as I was saying, when she found I was going off to the war and might get killed then she found that she loved me." "She'd rather marry you than that

Yes, I think she ought, after you rowed her around in the canoe.' "You are right," said Perkins, laughng; "but 'twas too late to marry her then. We agreed that if ever I got you should get killed," said Jennie.

back safely, when the war was over, we'd marry." "Tell me, now, how you came to lose your arm," said Jennie. "Twas in one of the great battles around Richmond that year. I had been in many fights before, but this was about the hottest. The enemy was bound to get the hill on which we stood, and we were holding on des perately. But at last the boys began to waver and give way. Then our colonel came out to the front, and the rest of our officers followed him, and they ran up and down the lines cheering up the men. 'Steady, my boys,' said the old colo nel; 'keep pouring it into them. here! Never let it be said that the line broke where the Alabamians stood!" "The whole air seemed black with shot and shell. A piece of one grazed the colonel's cheek, and the blood kept and no doubt our poet friend believed trickling down his face, but he didn't seem to feel it. The firing grew so hot that the men seemed fairly mowed down, and the line began to waver and break. Suddenly, clear on our right, there arose a tremendous yell. It grew poet, and he told me of a number of in- line toward us. Then, at last, we saw a courier galloping down the line. with him and said there was no ques- shall never forget how he looked. His tion about the correctness of his first black herse was all white with foam. diagnosis. It was a case of fear of and its flanks were bloody from his space, and after the poet is gone, if the spur. He rode bareheaded down the physician survives him, he will prob- line as if he bore a charmed life, and ably regule his scientific brethren with he kept waving his cap around his cheers. Then he galloped by where we were and yelled: "'Rally, men! Rally! Stonewall

"Then we cheered, too, until we were hoarse. The courier galloped on, and "'Forward, men! Charge!" "And away we went, down the hill and across a field, right toward the Yankee lines, yelling like Indians "I held the colors in my hand, and I ran a little ahead. I didn't seem to have any feet; I seemed to fly, and the

"All at once I saw the colonel, who was riding by me, grasp the colors, for they were falling. I looked and saw that my hand, my whole arm, was gone, and I hadn't felt it! I grabbed

"'I can carry the colors yet, colonel." said. 'I don't feel any pain.' blood began spouting from my shoulder. I dropped. Joe Ashe, one of the color guards, snatched the flag, and they all rushed on. "I fell senseless. I never knew another thing till weeks after, when I woke up one day in Chimborazo hospital and found some funny looking ladies in black bonnets that the boys called the 'sisters' bending over me. If it hadn't been for their good nursing, should have died."

ried away by the interest he felt in his own parrative that he had gone quite beyond his auditor. "But tell me, Joe," Jénnie eagerly asked-she had been impatiently waiting for an opportunity for so utes-"tell me, did you ever find your look for it.' "You couldn't fasten it on again then?"

"What a pity you couldn't!" said the child. "What a pity! And how do you manage to dress yourself and tie your cravat and shoes?" she asked, for she armed Confederate. ed at last to do it with the help of my vestigating mind. other way." he said, with a pathetic

Jane will. What did she say?"

"And she said no, sir-ree! I s'pose cried Jennie, full of fiery zeal for her

"Something to that effect," said Joe, the water. "Well, now, Joe," said Jennie, who was suddenly struck with a bright idea, "maybe if you would lose both arms she'd love you betterer and bet-

"I believe I'm satisfied with what she feels now," said Joe, laughing. "But why bain't you married?" con-

"Because I first had to get well, and then I had to get something to do. I had been a mechanic, and I couldn't work at my trade with my left hand. So Captain Ramsey gave me a place on his boat, and I've been trying to learn how to write, so that I can keep his

"Why, yes," said Jennie approvingly. "There's a 't' with the cross mark, and there is 'k' with his broken back, and that's an 'i.' I know him by his eyebrow. You see, I can read a little,' she said proudly.

ting up his book. "Now, I must go. The sun has set. It is time for me to see after things for the night."

He stroked Jennie's curly head with his left hand and walked away, softly singing in his mellow voice, "My Own Mary Ann." He Knew the Fact.

A small boy had a dog that was into the girl's presence, and after some desultory conversation he said: "You know my dog Barca and your cat Darling?" "Yes."

"Well, my dog had a piece of meat, and he thought your cat was going to take it away from him." "Thought!" exclaimed the wise little girl. "What makes you say that the think; they instinct." "Well," said the boy, "I don't care whether he thought it or whether he instincted it; but, anyhow, he killed your cat."-London Fun.

In a bank in Philadelphia is displayed prominently this sign: "Gentlemen "It Makes the Clerks Sour and Envi-

Jackson is in their rear and giving 'em presently our officer shouted:

men followed me. Right toward the blazing line we ran.

the flag in my left hand.

Perkins ceased. He had been so car-arm that you dropped?" "No; to be sure not. I never went to

"Of course not child. I am not a had been burning to make these inquiries ever since she had seen the one "Twas awkward at first, but I learn-teeth.' "But how when you get old and lose 'em?" said Jennie, who was of an in-"Providence will raise me up some

"To be sure, I forgot; Miss Mary "I got one of the sisters to write her for me, and I set ber free. I said I

"I'll have my wife to walt on new friend.

"She wrote me that she loved me more with one arm than she ever had done with two: that whenever I could get home she was ready." Here Joe's eyes filled, and he gazed steadily in tinued Jennie, pursuing her investigabooks. I think I'm doing pretty well. clank book in which were scrawled divers hieroglyphics, at which he gazed

"So I see," said he, laughing and put-rough, as most small boys' dogs are, and a young girl who lived next door had a kitten, sly as all cats are. One day the small boy came nonchalantly dog thought? You know dogs don't the floor surged forward toward the upon receipt of two-cent stamp by W. statement was mailed to each of the a rather interesting record taken from head and shouting something to the manners of the clerks, has appended,